

Quiz

Starr v Pendergast Painting Pty Ltd [2020] NSWSC 725

1. When a plaintiff commences a proceeding for judicial review for a workers compensation matter, which three defendants will the plaintiff generally name?
 - a. The employer
 - b. Registrar of the Workers Compensation Commission (now the President of the Personal Injury Commission)
 - c. The Appeal Panel constituted by each person who sat on the Appeal Panel
 - d. All of the above

2. What will an order for certiorari do?
 - a. Send the decision back for reconsideration by the appropriate body
 - b. Declare that the decision is invalid
 - c. Quash the decision
 - d. b and c

3. What is the time to commence a judicial review proceeding?
 - a. Within three months after the relevant decision was made
 - b. Within six months after the relevant decision was made
 - c. Within one year after the relevant decision was made
 - d. Within six years after the relevant decision was made

4. What did the decision of Justice Adamson ultimately turn on?
 - a. A close analysis of Wednesbury unreasonableness
 - b. The criteria to make out one per cent whole person impairment and whether the worker is self conscious of his or her scarring
 - c. An analysis of procedural fairness
 - d. All of the above

5. What percentage of whole person impairment is required in order to commence an action for work injury damages?
 - a. One per cent
 - b. Nine percent
 - c. Fifteen per cent
 - d. There is no minimum percentage

Answers:

1. A 2. C 3. A 4. B 5. C